YOU'RE NOT LIKE ME

Big business, small mind
You can't even spare a dime
Wrecking ball, takes out another friend of mine
You're the monkey
That's an insult to the monkey not to you it ain't

You're not like me
Something went wrong
In your real fantasy
You can't even see
A thousand feet up
In your real fantasy

Stars and stripes
You've got a lot to hide behind
Your whole life
You pissed on the ones
That you're not like

FINE LINE

It's no different, it's the same as it ever was
Most stay away from the hardest situations
It's a fine line, with two sides to fall from
But the length it's varied, it's the same as it ever was

It's a fine line, you can't see it,
It's a fine line, but you can...be on it

Five miles tall and slippery as a bull frog
It's a long line, the kind you can walk on
The width can vary, but it's the same as it ever was

Try to cross over, you leap through the velvet cloth
It's a broke line, once you come across
The result can vary, but it's the same as it ever was
It's no different, it's the same as it ever was

It's a fine line, you can't see it,
It's a fine line, but you can...be on it.

ALL SHE SAID

She rolled in town, after the last sundown
Only her memories, to her name
If I could only see him again
That's all she said

Time tears us further apart
Til it's nothing short of a game
If I could only see him again
That's all she said

It's not all about you
You broke the rule
Opportunity knocks, but you're not home
And that door never opens again
If I could only see him again
That's all she said

All those songs that you're longing to hear
They're crying for your tears
If I could only see him again
That's all she said

It's not all about you
You broke the rule

HOW COULD WE HAVE EVER KNOWN?

The stars come out, eventually
How could we have ever known?
But it's clear now
Can't you see?
Maybe a glimpse of why we couldn't be

It had to happen
Or else it couldn't be
How could we have ever known?
How somebody like you
Ended up with me
It couldn't have happened
any other way
How could we have ever known?

DIVIDE AND CONQUER

Don't you know about Divide and Conquer?
Don't you know about Divide and Conquer?

We could be insuperable, if we were inseparable
But we're split into two
Torn in fragments
Turned against
One another

WORDS IN MY HEAD

All your actions
Are just words in my head, baby
It's a reaction to the world around me, baby
It's your life
Do what you want to do
I'll just be happy to dance with you

All these wars
Are just banker's wars
All these wars are just banker's wars
It's your life
Do what you want to do
I'll just be happy to dance with you

Mike & the Y-Tones - Words in my Head
Blind Pigeon Records Catalog #: BPR055
Release Date: October 6, 2017

A short debut record spanning early and recent compositions bundled in a 6 track effort that flows and goes and comes back around. We have politicians being politicians (You're Not Like Me) and self-centeredness at a funeral (All She Said) as subjects along with final closure on a relationship that ended many years ago, set to rest by the existence of this very record (How Could We Have ever Known?).

The second half starts with a question, drawing attention to the divisiveness of our times and a call to reality (Divide & Conquer). The good news is that we are are not as divided as people say we are, which takes us to a song called "Fine Line" about how fragile our relationships are. The last song, the title track, Words in my Head, just a a damn riff I made up and closed my eyes and thought and thought and out comes the words:

All your actions are just words in my head baby
It's a reaction to the world around me baby

Mike & the Y-Tones is a rock trio based out of Reading, PA playing the original songs of Mike Yesconis (vocals and guitar), backed by Matt McCarty (Drums) and Adam Coffinberger (Bass).
